Students : Everyone moves from one place to another and they start washing their hands (acting) , except one i.e the liar (just stands still)

Teacher : re confirms by asking - Did u all wash your hands ?

Students : yes sir!

Teacher : ok go sleep, good night.

While the students are sleeping.

The audience will be asked 1 question by the volunteer :

1) Who is the liar

Volunteer : yes , you have guessed it right.

Volunteer : Now one of you tell me, what will happen since she has lied ?

(one / two person will answer)

The volunteer will make them quiet by saying now it's 3 am for these students.

we will observe the consequences of lying in the next part of the skit.

The liar starts coughing 5 times and goes back to sleep.

After 5 seconds - Volunteer : will say the time is 8am (the time kids wake up)

Children get up and everyone starts coughing.

The end

Volunteer : Why is it not right to lie ?

After some discussion

2 students will conclude the moral of the skit :

Lying leads to cheating ourselves and others

Ask them questions. Have you ever lied? Give them time to think .

Alert them about the consequences they had after lying.

Did you feel guilty? Did you cheat yourself ? Do you think it was right what u did ?

Make it a 'yes or no class'

After this ask them if you want to see another skit

SCENARIO 2

Teacher : Everyone, go wash your hands to protect yourself from coronavirus.

Students : Everyone moves from one place to another and they start washing their hands , except one. (liar)

Teacher : re confirms by asking - Did u all wash your hands ?

Students : yes sir, but one person raises his hand and says - sir water was too cold i didn't wash my hands

Teacher : Very bad reason, but I appreciate the fact that you told me the truth.

Student: washes his hand and goes to sleep.

The end

Volunteer : What happened when she told the truth that she didn't wash her hands ?

Audience will answer

Volunteer will summarize : Teacher got a little angry but appreciated her honesty.

Moral : being truthful is bitter but better (if not everyone would have got fever in the class)
